

ILC Dover SoloLAB

SoloLAB Benchtop Isolation Unit

The soloLAB provides excellent value for money to any labs looking to contain a variety of processes or substances.

The soloLAB is a pop-up, benchtop isolation unit which is super quick to assemble (it really does just pop-up) that offers containment for many applications.

It is fully welded from a tough yet very clear 500-micron flexible film offering high optical clarity and maximum durability.

Utility sleeves allow for gas lines to be added securely to control the environment within.
